Hylo Home And School Association Holds Meet Your Neighbor Program

The regular Hylo Home and School meeting was held Friday, Dec. 18, where everyone enjoyed the "Meet Your Neighbor" program, in the good old fashioned Christmas spirit. Everyone took part in singing the popular Christmas carols, led by Mrs. O. Meardi and accompanied by Mrs. C. McEachern on the piano.

The business session was brief. The correspondence about films and a letter in regard to regulations of the electrical wiring of the skating rink were read.

It was announced that the new library books had arrived.

A decision was made by the members regarding the inquiry and purchase of a 500 gal. tank for use in the flooding of the skating rink.

There was further discussion in regard to the wiring of the skating rink on a community project basis.

Inquiries will be made in regard to prices of a motor and pump for the well.

Coffee and doughnuts concluded a pleasant and enjoyable evening.

Government Making Grants To Aid Recreational Facilities Projects

The department of the provincial secretary has informed the town that the provincial government is making grants available to towns, villages and hamlets as part of the government's five year plan to assist communities in acquiring recreational facilities.

The grants will be based on $10 per capita for all communities of 100 or more population, with consideration being given to projects being planned jointly by adjoining communities.

Members of the legislative assembly are expected to organize the communities for decisions as to the best way of allocating the money ,

As the term, "recreation", covers a wide variety of subjects, the suggestion has been made by the mayor that all organized groups, as well as interested individuals within the town, give serious thought to the subjects and submit suggestions to their council as to the best way of making use of the grant.

The money may be used for any feasible plan of recreational facilities, approved by the department, and may be applied to such projects proceeded with during the five year period dating from January, 1959.

Children Enjoy Christmas Party

The annual WI children's Christmas Party was held Dec. 18 in Mrs. Mastaler's room in the lower school. A huge gaily-decorated Christmas tree was the centre of attraction for the little ones.

Some 40 boys and girls, 10 years of age and under, entertained the mothers with recitations, carols and school songs, under the direction of Mrs. Mastaler and Mrs. Uganitz. After lunch, gifts and treats were distributed to the happy children and as usual many were heard to exclaim, "that is just what I wanted".

THE Homemaker

By BERTHA M. McCUTCHEON

Christmas preparations are fascinating but there is not nearly enough time to do all the things we plan. Here are some last minute suggestions.

B. McCutcheon

Have you tried orange whip on mince pie? Whip one-third cup of heavy cream, then fold in a tablespoon of sugar and a teaspoon of grated orange rind. This makes two-thirds of a cup of topping.

The hula hoop fad is over, so if there is a hoop lying neglected in your basement use it. Covered with ribbon bows or evergreens it will make an excellent decoration to welcome your friends at the front door.

Drape an old sheet around the Christmas tree holder and under the tree. It forms a snowlike base and collects fallen needles which can be readily shaken out.

Bring in the laundry basket or a large packing carton on Christmas morning. Let everyone drop torn wrappings into it.

SAFETY FIRST

Accidents do happen—even at Christmas time. Let us do our best to contribute to a tragedy-free holiday season. We should remember that Christmas safety begins with the tree.

1. Do buy a fresh tree. Bring it indoors as short a time before Christmas as possible.
2. Do place a tree in a water-filled non-tippable container. Add water daily to lessen drying out.
3. Do not place the tree near a fireplace, heater or stove; nor where it will block a stairway or exit.
4. Do use fire-resistant artificial snow under the tree, not inflammable cotton.
5. Do use metal and glass ornaments which will not burn—not paper and cotton.
6. Do not use lighted candles on tree or smoke near a tree.
7. Do use only electrical equipment with U.L. seal.
8. Do check for frayed wires, loose connections and broken sockets before you light sets, carried over from year to year.
9. Do not overload electrical circuits with lights or decorations.
10. Do turn the tree lights out before leaving the house or going to bed.
11. The following mixture is of assistance in flame proofing your tree and other decorations: borax, 7 oz.; boric acid, 3 oz.; water, 2 quarts. Simply spray it.

A Prayer at Christmas Time

O God, and Father of us all,
List to Thy lowliest creature's call;
Give of Thy joy to high and low,
Comforting the sorrowing in their woe;
Make wars to cease and love to grow
At Christmas time.
Let not one heart be sad t
May every child be glad Bless Thou Thy children
small,
In lowly hut or castle ha
And may each soul keep
At Christmas time.

New Year's Baby Contest Rules

The first baby born in the New Year in your district hospital will be declared the winner.

It doesn't matter where the parents live — even if it's New York, but let's hope it's a lady from the this district — as long as the birth takes place in the hospital we've named.

The merchants of the district have been generous in gifts they have so willingly contributed.

The parents are expected to pick up the gifts at the business places listed.

The First Baby Contest adds to the thrill of becoming the proud parents of your first baby. And if it is your second, third or fourth child, the contest awards relieve some of the financial burdens.

Now, in the event that no babies are born in the hospital until January 2nd, or even January 10th or longer (we hope we won't have to wait too long) the prizes will still fall to the first infant born after 12 midnight, December 31st.

A story on the winners will be printed in the issue published closest to the big day, time permitting.

WELCOME !

Darling little baby we welcome you to town.
It really doesn't matter if your hair is black or brown,
If it is straight or curly —
If you're a boy or girlie —
We're glad you came to town !

Who Will The Lucky Baby Be?

When Will The Stork Come To St. Catherine's Hospital?

SLY OLD MR. STORK

Said the Stork, "I've been flying for hours
What do you say, dear babe, if we stop right here ?
For I see a man and a lady,
Whom I am certain would love a baby.
I think that is the local hospital so, my dear,
What do you say if we stop right here ?
"You don't weight a lot, that's very true,
But I've been flying for hours and hours and hours,
And I've been carrying you with my beak,
And I haven't been able to eat;
What do you say if we stop right here ?
"There is that kindly man and lady
Who are signalling they need a baby
To make their life complete —
So I'll lower my flaps and descend quite slowly;
I'll circle round, and I'll time it right —
First we'll let the New Year come in,
Then we'll light —
And you can be the New Year's Babe !
And I can go and eat," said the Stork.

Recreation Bureau Sponsors Workshop

LAC LA BICHE — A workshop for members of local recreation is being sponsored by the community recreation bureau and will be held at the Banff School of Fine Arts Feb. 19 to 21, 1960.

The cost to the council is traveling expense and a registration fee of $5 for each delegate attending. Board and accommodation will be provided by the provincial government. The agenda for the three-day course is an interesting one and it is hoped that Lac la Biche may be represented.

WELL OVER 2500 BABIES BORN IN ST CATHERINE'S HOSPITAL

LAC LA BICHE — In 1937 the Sisters of the Order of Daughters of Jesus, made arrangements to take over the large, beautiful, but impractical Inn which had been built on the shores of Lac la Biche some twenty years previous but which had been closed for a generation after being in use for only two years.

The Order decided to make the necessary alterations to this vast building and make it suitable for a badly needed hospital for that community. The Sisters had been in the district for some years, having established a mission and school a few miles away in 1905.

There were about twenty beds at the original opening of the hospital. A new wing was added in October, 1955, allowing more bed accommodation. At the present the capacity is 57 beds and 14 basinettes. This hospital is in need of still more beds.

Sister Rosalie Marie is in charge. She is assisted by thirteen sisters. Two doctors serve the St. Catherine's Hospital. They are Drs. Wm. Cadzow and D. Bouvier.

There have been away over 200 babies born in St. Catherine's during the past twelve months.

New installations have been added from time to time as the need has arisen, making this a well equipped hospital. The latest of these was a Picker Ex-ray installed only last week. This has the most modern x-ray tube using higher voltage with fluorescoping device attached.

Radiologists from the General Hospital, Edmonton, visit once a month for screenings and readings.

Up to Dec. 12, 1959, a total of two thousand, five hundred and four (2,504) babies have been born here.

Ambulance service is established between Lac la Biche and Edmonton, the ideal setting for the landing of ski equipped planes making this possible.

The 1959 new year's baby was a boy born to Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Dube of Plamondon.

The number of boy babies exceeds the number of girl babies in the United States. Even so, women live so much longer that there are more women than men in the U.S.

HI, LITTLE SWEETHEART

Hi, Little Sweetheart:

You darling little New Year's babe, you and I have so many secrets together — each of the advertisements on this page is one — so you see we do have a number. Isn't that just marvelous !

Mom and Dad will be so pleased too ! but, dear, I'll let you in on something very important. These merchants are doing something very special for you, for they too, as I do, love the New Year's baby very much, and they are giving away valuable gifts. So do please, make certain that Dad and Mom will call around at each place and receive them personally. You could go along too, wouldn't that be exciting ? I mention this for there are some gifts that have not been called for in other years, through some reason or other, and isn't that just a shame. So, little darling, do make certain that all the gifts are called for.

We know, of course that these merchants will receive the patronage of the parents during the year ahead. And here's the very best for you, not only in 1960, but all through a long and happy life.

Team Continues Winning Streak

The Lac la Biche Clippers continued their winning streak Thursday, Dec. 9 as they turned back the Hylo Rockets 8-6 in a game that was played under the lights. This win made it four straight in their first four games of the season.

Foster Stewart played a sensational game in the Clippers net as he managed to turn back a great number of shots. Jim McCormick and Don Michetti, picked up two goals apiece and singles went to Gordon McCormick, Orville Franchuk, Donald Dobson and Andre Langevin.

Hylo goals were secured by Melvin Rayment, Larry Meardi, Dave Lozinski and big Julius Owcher, who managed to pick up a hat trick. The big line for Hylo were Owcher, Lozinski and Meardi.

The Clippers defeated the St Paul boys 2-1 in a thrilling hockey game at St Paul Friday evening. Since the St Paul team held the title for nothern Alberta in the 14-16 years age group last year, our boys can rightfully feel proud over their victory. More details of the game will be forthcoming in a later issue.

Young School Boy Found Shoplifting

LAC LA BICHE — A young high school student from an outlying district was found by local authorities as he was busily making the rounds of the local stores and filling a shopping bag with merchandise from display tables and shelves. Nothing has been learned of any action taken to lay charges, but the youth will likely have learned a good lesson after the embarrassment he has been subjected to.

This is not the first time shoplifting has been detected, but most cases have not been made public. Stores have been warned to keep a constant watch for unscrupulous shoppers.

Lac Land Sales And Service Garage Destroyed In Early Morning Fire

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed Lac Land Sales and Service garage and implement daelers, eariy morning of Dec. 16. The night clerk at the Lac la Biche Hotel noticed the blaze and turned in the fire alarm at 4:25 a.m.

Minutes later the local fire brigade was at the scene but the whole building was a mass of flames. Efforts were concentrated on saving the home of Hector McCormick right beside the garage.

This family was awakened by the smell of smoke and by a couple of explosions in the garage just a few seconds before the alarm sounded. Seeing the building next door in flames, the family hurried from their home in their night attire and took refuge with a neighbor. The roof of their home was partly burned and the upstairs rooms were badly damaged by smoke and water.

Loss of the garage is estmated to be around $30,000. A couple of tractors and a truck were burned in the fire as well as many mechanics' and carpenters' tools belonging to men who had been working in the building previous to the fire.

So far it has not been ascertained whether the owner of the garage, Walter Ilnicki, plans to rebuild immediately or not.

Only the fact that the night was calm and the fire brigade was on the job in record time prevented the fire from spreading to the rest of the block which includes the Bakery and Hudson's Bay Store.

Police Officer Graduating Class Receive High Calibre Instruction

C.H. Calvert, local police constable, was among the 19 municipal police who graduated after an intensive 6 weeks course under the direction of RCMP and city police officers, held in Edmonton from Nov. 2 to December 11. Inaugurated one year ago, the course is designed to give municipal police the same training and instruction as that offered to the national and city law-enforcing agencies.

H.J. Wilson, deputy attorney-general, in speaking to the graduating class at the close of the course told the constables their training represented "the best both the RCMP and city police forces had to offer.

The course is one of the most up-to-date in Canada and the instruction was of the highest calibre." Chief Anthony told the class that though they had now completed their training, "greater knowledge and more efficiency can only come through additional study at home". In this way, he said, the men would continue to become better police officers.

Graduates of the class included municipal police from High Prairie Rocky Mountain House, Bonnyville,Jasper Place, Stony Plain, Devon, Hinton, Breton, Radway, Wildwood, Wainwright, Camrose, Ponoka, Myrnam, Lac la Biche and Elk Point.

Constable Calvert, is receiving congratulations on having successfully completed the course.

Weekend Magazine Write Up Exploits Of Lac La Biche Priest, Father McGrane

Rev. Father Joseph McGrane of Lac la Biche is the subject of a lengthy article in the December 12 issue of Weekend Magazine.

The story and pictures reports on the priest's work among district youth and especially, his interest in the Canadian Sea Cadet Corps "Exeter".

Among the amusing quotes in the weekend story is the following:

Citizens of Lac la Biche have a strong personal reason for being conscious of the cadets; most of them, at one time or another, have been called upon to contribute materially to the unit's support. Father McGrane's weakness for scrounging on behalf of his boys is a favorite topic of conversation. Much of the equipment used by the unit came from merchants solicited by the padre, and even ordinary citizens are expected to contribute to Camp McGrane's arder during the camp season. One story has it that he once exracted a quanity of food from a Chinese cafe owner, an avowed Buddhist, with an appeal to the man's Christian charity. The story is open to doubt, as is the one that he once got a 20 per cent discount on a free load of lumber.

Most of the typhoons that thrash the coasts of Korea and Japan in late summer and early fall originate in the China sea east of Formosa.

Disipline - A Naughty Word

Parenthood Without Hokum

By Howard Whitman

PART 5

New Thoughts On Training

"Now about discipline—" the father asked. But he got no further. "Oh, we just don't use that word!" said the child psychology expert.

This has been the mood of the past 20 years in some of our lofty circles of theorizing and expert-izing. The word "discipline" has been marked as a semantic bum.

If used at all it was to conjure up a picture of our forebearers spending virtually all their waking hours slam-banging their kids with barrel staves in the woodsheds, while the youngsters themselves were in a perpetual state of black-and-blue posterior.

H. Whitman

While it is doubtful that the woodshed ever was as busy a place as it is made out to be, the revolt against it was ardent and its defeat, total. In testimony before the Senate Subcommittee on Juvenile Delinquency last December, Juvenile Court Judge William G. Gardiner of St. Petersburg, Fla., described the new trend which emerged as follows:

"The question of discipline has been de-emphasized by the child psychologists upon the theory that the restraint and disciplinary restriction placed upon the child emotion of self-expression destroys the personality of the child, causing the child to become frustrated and emotionally disturbed."

When I talked with him later, Judge Gardiner gave an example of how far the no-discipline trend had come. "We even had our police intimidated by the youngsters here," he said. "One Hallowe'en a gang of kids tried to turn over a police car—and the police were afraid to do anything about it. They were completely confused by a new juvenile law which said police weren't supposed to arrest youngsters."

Judge Gardiner himself never quite bought the new philosophy. He agreed with sociologists that the main purpose of a juvenile court should be treatment. But he had his own idea of what treatment should be. In a crisp motto, he summed it up — "Treatment is training. Training is learning. Learning is discipline."

While no one favors harsh or unreasonable restraints upon children—for this is not discipline but an abuse of discipline—leaders in the child-care field today recognize that the laissez-faire philosophy has failed.

Dr. Harry Bakwin, professor of clinical pediatrics at New York University, stated at the 1954 American Medical Association convention that some of our child psychologists had done a "bad job" in advising parents to "let the child do as he pleases."

Children need a fir parental hand, he said—even literally once in a while.

BAD RESULTS

Scientific observers have had a chance over the past two decades to note how children without discipline turn out. In extreme cases of non-discipline, the results have been extremely bad.

In a report for the Child Study Association of America, Psychiatrist Bertram J. Gosliner declared, "Many of the children so brought up became emotionally disturbed. They were egocentric, intolerant of frustration, lacking in control and perseverance. They reacted with irritation and antagonism to the laws and customs of their society. Authority and enemy became synonymous. These children were unable to live harmoniously with their fellows or themselves."

Visiting family agencies throughout the country I have seen the practical side of it.

A mother in Boston told a case worker, "The way I understand it is that I shouldn't restrain my child in any way. But if I don't, he just seems to do worse and worse things—and in the end I get frantic."

Good for Child

In Los Angeles, a father asked, "Is it true that if I frustrate my child, it will mark him for life?"

These are hangovers from the no-discipline era. Today case workers must patiently explain that if undisciplined children drive their parents frantic it is simply because the youngsters are looking for "limits," actually demanding controls because they are lost and insecure without them.

And as for frustration, it is just poppycock that we "mark our children for life" by single incidents; actually, the competent case worker explains, it is good for the child to have reasonable amounts of frustration in his growing-up He is sure to meet up with frustration later on and should develop an ability to handle it.

The "reality principal," a favorite of Sigmund Freud, comes into play here. While Freud has been widely interpreted or misinterpreted to bolster the ant-discipline movement, he stressed the grasp of reality as a prime criterion of mental health.

What is reality for the child? Will the world shield him from all frustration? Will it be without limits and controls on his behavior? Will he be forever allowed to do as he pleases?

A Rude Awakening

Or does he face at least a rude awakening or at most a horrible crack-up when he matriculates into a world which insists upon law and order, and recognition of the rights of others?

In June, 1954 a panel of psychologist, psychiatrists and sociologists met at the U. S. Children's Bureau in Washington. A summary of their discussion includes the following: "One thing is paramount, that we hold our children accountable. To do otherwise is to do them a disservice. Marriage, family, and job require a sence of accountability. To permit a child to indulge in every whim and fancy is to build him up for a severe setback." The summary added, "Parents must be clear and consistent in their discipline."

The new trend is certainly not to gratify parents who would like to crack down on their children, nor to give vent to parental vengeance. It springs wholly from a rediscovery of the needs of children. It is for the children's benefit.

Psychiatrists today recognize that children without discipline are insecure and emotionally unstable. They do not know when they are on safe ground, when they are doing what is expected of them or when they are breaking the rules; they do not know how to win praise and approval and they cannot even get the joy of mischief by breaking the rules once in a while.

The adult often states his own need for security in the words "I want to know where I stand." Children also do.

A World of Dangers

The child's world is full of dangers—the hot stove, the cars on a busy street, an unpredictable cat or puppy, the danger of breaking something valuable, of making someone angry, and of course the danger of getting hurt. Discipline is to a great extent a protection from dangers.

In a report from the Child Study Center at Yale University Dr. Katherine M. Wolf declared, "The growing human being finds himself confused and insecure if the adults closest to him do not help him to anticipate these dangers, if they do not warn him against exposing himself to them. Children reason that people who love them will not let them get hurt; therefore they doubt their parents' love if prohibitions are not effective enough to keep them out of trouble. And to be effective, prohibitions must be backed up by discipline."

Here we clearly see discipline as an ingredient of love. This has been a focal point of confusion during the no-discipline era. Some very starry-eyed theorists reasoned that parents who were inclined to restrain and restrict the freedom of their children didn't really like their children very much.

Hated To Do It

I wonder what they'd think of the father in New York who said "I have two sons in college right now, and believe me I disciplined them when they were very young. Sometimes I hated to do it and felt it would be much easier to let them get away with it. But I'm glad I stuck to it—those boys thank me for it now. They still remember when I used to say, 'It would be a lot easier to spoil you—but that would be the most disloyal thing I could do'."

This father was simply listening to the echo of an ancient insight. He was no expert, had no degrees. But his heart told him what has been in man's heart since earliest days.

You have heard that "Spare the rod and spoil the child" comes from the Bible. But what the Bible actually says is even more insightful, more penetrating than that. In Cleveland, Rabbi Philip Horowitz gave me a transliteration of the original Hebrew of Proverbs 13:34 — "Chosaich shiv-to so-nai v'no." What it really is—"He who spares the rod hates his child."

ACT Appeal For Wheel Chair Answered By Buck Creek Men

A permanently crippled young man at La Corey, Alberta will enjoy a more mobile life due to the generosity of a group of young men at Buck Creek. La Corey is a rural community near St. Paul and Buck Creek is located more than 200 miles west of the community.

As a result of an appeal for a wheel chair and hospital bed broadcast for the Northern Alberta Crippled Children's Committee of the Associated Canadian Travellers, members of the Pembina Pipe Liners' Social Club at Buck Creek offered to donate a wheel chair they purchased earlier for a crippled girl in their community, but no longer required by her.

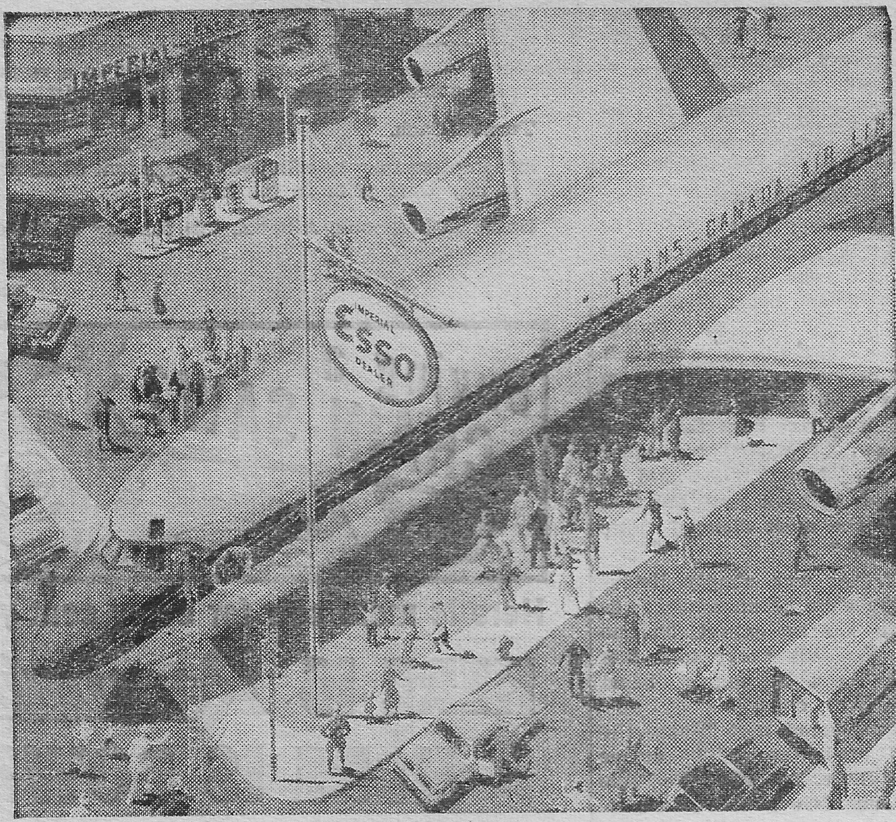
Three members of the club, Ken Auld, president; Richard Dziwenks, secretary; and Jim Capewell, past president; volunteered to deliver the chair to the A.C.T. office in Edmonton, a round trip of approximately 250 miles. Presentation of the chair on behalf of the 32 member young men's social club was made to Eric Brandshaw, chairman of the A.C.T. Crippled Children's Committee and Ernest Snead, club president and arrangements were completed to ship the chair to Jacque Chouinard, the 17 year old crippled youth at La Corey.

Arrangements are being completed by the A.C.T. to provide the stricken young man with a hospital bed as well. The Associated Canadian Travellers raise funds to provide financial assistance to needy crippled children throughout Northern and Central Alberta. More than 2,000 children have received assistance from this fund since its inception more than 12 years ago.

Major source of the funds is the annual series of Search for Talent Shows held in approximately twenty towns each fall and winter season. This is a joint project sponsored by the A.C.T. in co-operation with Radio Station CFRN. Local talent is featured in each town and the evening's program is rounded out with a professional cast of top Edmonton radio and television personalities. Proceeds from these performances go to the ACT Crippled Children's Fund and winners of the talent show are eligible for the CFRN Banff School of Fine Arts Scholarship as well as appearance at the Edmonton Jubilee auditorium Search for Talent Finals next April:

Talent shows will be held at the following towns in the New Year:

January 9—Mannville, Jan. 23—Athabasca, Feb. 6—Drayton Valley, Feb. 20—Ponoka, March 5—Vegreville, March 19—Bonnyville, Jan. 16—Wetaskiwin, Jan. 30—Thorsby, Feb. 13—Stony Plain, Feb. 27, Onoway, March 12—Galahad



You'll certainly drive a long way before you find one of T.C.A.'s new DC8's at an Imperial Esso service station. But they're important Imperial customers just the same.

The jet and the family car—together they mean lower gasoline prices

The new DC8 jets are powered by a special Imperial jet fuel, as carefully tailored for its job as the gasoline for your car.

Today gasolines and jet fuels are only two types of a whole range of products —over 600 of them—made by Imperial from petroleum.

This efficiency in getting everything out of every gallon of crude oil is an important reason for lower fuel prices—whether for a DC8, a jalopy or the new family car.

Gasoline is a bargain: in the last five years the average price of things people buy has gone up nearly 16 per cent, while gasoline has actually gone down about half of one per cent.*
